New York, Jan. 11.—"What do I think of the jury. Why, it is one hundred per cent better than the last; I am delighted."—Evelyn Nesbit Thaw.

"It is one of the cleanest-cut trial
juries I have ever seen during my entire career as a practicing attorney.
There can be no question of the fairness of these 12 men."—District Attorney Jerome.

"The defense is content."—Martin
W. Littleton.

"Unless something unforeseen developes, the state will complete its direct proof of the killing of Stanford White, by Harry K. Thaw at the morning session on Monday," declared District Attorney Jerome today.

After a consultation with medical experts, counsel for Thaw announced today that the defense would be that he is suffering
from the mental disease
known to experts as "stuporous mel-ancholia." The symptoms of this disorder are declared by Dr. A. Mc-Lane Hamilton to be failure of the afflicted person to realize events
transpiring in his or her life, or leading up to a tragedy but upon the culmination of a tragedy the mind is re-wakened and there is then a possibility of a cure.

This plea was urged in the case of Thomas Harrigan, a plumber, who slew the traducer of his sister some years ago, and was acquitted.

New York, Jan. 11.—After five days of hard work the jury that will decide the fate of Harry Thaw for the murder of Stanford White was completed last evening.

With the decks thus cleared for action the case will be called at 10 o'clock Monday morning and the great battle will begin. It is an intelligent looking jury of 10 married men and two widowers. There are five gray heads in the box. None of the 12 is below middle age. Most of them are fathers of families. All of them seem to be broad-minded, level-headed and without bias. They were selected only after the most thorough drag-net examinations.

Harry Thaw is satisfied Mrs. Thaw is pleased. The lawyers on both sides are content.

And thus at last Harry Thaw will again face his fate at the hands of a jury of his peers—12 men who will hew to the line of absolute justice,
whether that line ends in acquittal or
the electric chair.

In the selection of the jury Harry Thaw has been consulted on the merit
and demerits of every man examined. He has practically had the say in the dice which will settle his fate in his own hands. He can have no just complaint if his jurors reside against him.

The facility with which the jury
has been selected is remarkable in

GREAT WAR PREDICTED BY JUSTICE HARLAN

National Capital Stirred up Over Speech at Navy League Dinner—Wants Government to Appropriate $50,000,000 Yearly.

Washington, Jan. 11.—The National Capital is all stirred up today

over a speech made last night at the annual dinner of the navy league of the United States at the Willard hotel,
by Associate Justice Harlan of the United States Supreme Court. Justice Harlan predicted a great war between the yellow and white races and earnestly urged preparations by the United States to meet the issue. He

the annals of the New York Criminal courts. In the former trial almost two weeks were required to fill the jury box. Out of 550 talesmen 196
were examined.

In the present trial 382 talesmen
out of 475 were examined.
Mrs. Thaw did not wear her usual blue veil. The proceedings eventually became so monotonous that she closed her eyes and apparently fell asleep. Like her husband, she seemed to take but little interest in the proceedings until the last man of the jury had been selected. Then she straightened up and scanned the entire 12 men closely.

OLDEST BLOCK

In Mt. Vernon Gutted by Fire Friday
Morning—Records of G. A. R. A.
Burned.

Mt. Vernon, Jan. 11.—Fire almost totally destroyed the Jones Block
here early Friday morning, the loss to the tenants being great. The block was the oldest in the city. The most severe loss was in the office of Captain M. Murphy, pension agent, as in his office were kept the records of Johann Post, G. A. R., 13 volumes in all, and containing the names and records of all Knox county soldiers and the amount of pension they received. There was no other record kept of them.

A restaurant, barber shop, cigar store, grocery, meat market and several rooms above were burned out.
The fire is supposed to have originated
from a gas jet in a restaurant.

HELD FOR AN EMBEZZLER.

Zanesville, O., Jan. 11.—J. W.
Walters, vice president of the Ohio
Hotel Clerks' Association was arrested here last night on a charge of embezzling $5,000 from the funds of the Rozze Hotel, where he is employed as clerk. The operations, it is said, cover a period of three years,
and were concealed by clever manipulation of accounts.

$50,000,000 a year on the navy for the next ten years.

"I believe," he said, "that we will see within the next ten years and army of perhaps 5,000,000 men in China, drilled and instructed by Japanese and when that time comes they will be in a position to say to us, the white race: 'You keep your country, we will keep this country,
get out.' I want to see our navy such that no nation on earth could ever think for a moment of forcing
a contest, or entering into a contest
with us."

Turns Revolver on Self and Inflicts
Fatal Wounds—Crazed by Blindness of Son.

Ravenna, O., Jan. 11.—Driven frantic by the verdict of the staff of Bellevue hospital, New York, that his seven-year-old son Eddie, must be blind throughout life, Edwin Collier of Cleveland, sent two bullets through the boy's heart, and then shot himself.

The tragedy occurred at Maple Grove cemetery, just outside this city, and the body of the child fell across the grave of his mother, who died in Cleveland two years ago. The boy's body was frozen stiff and the legs and arms of the father were in a like condition.
Collier, who is only 21 years old,
was removed to the hospital, where pneumonia developed and he died
this morning. He was found on the new covered grave of his wife where he lay for hours after firing the fatal shots.

WEALTHY GIRL PAYS POOR WIFE $5000 FOR HER HUSBAND

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 11.—A Detroit girl, member of a wealthy family, recently offered a married woman $5,000
cash for her husband and the offer was accepted. This fact developed in a divorce suit. The name of the girl is suppressed for the sake of her family.
The husband is the plaintiff in the divorce suit, and according to the story, when it reached the ears of the judge, the wife had agreed not to contest the case. She was to receive for this $5,000 in cash, to be furnished by the girl, whose marriage to the husband was to follow the divorce.

ARRESTED

In Springfield, Ill., is a Newark Man
on Larceny Charge—Police Do Not Know Him.

"A man giving his name as Frank Wilson and who it was afterward learned is Edward C. Hoak of Newark, O., was arrested here last evening on a larceny charge. Hoak has disposed of a ring valued at $8 to a local dealer for $1.50."

Such was the telegram received
this morning from Springfield, Ill.,
but no such name as Hoak appears in a city directory here for the past three years. The police do not know of any such person ever having lived in Newark.

BANK STATEMENT SHOWS A VERY HEALTHY CONDITION

New York, Jan. 11.—As indicated by that financial barometer, the New York bank statement, the financial flurry which has caused so many features and created such an alarm in money circles is a thing of the past.
Today's bank statement shows a surplus of $6,084,080 above the legal requirements. It is the first time since the panic of October that a surplus
has been recorded.

"ANGEL"

Of Texas is John W. Gates, Who Will Make That State His Home—To Start Manufacturing.

Port Arthur, Texas, Jan. 11.—John W. Gates, known to Chicago and New York as a plunger, is being hailed here as the new "angel" of Texas, in view of the great things he has promised to do for this section of the world. Gates announced today that hereafter he intends to proclaim himself a citizen of Port Arthur. He may make occasional trips to New York or Europe, but Port Arthur is to be his home. Gates declared he will also start several manufacturing establishments.

COW AGED TEN YEARS MOTHER OF 14 CALVES.

Mr. J. M. Taylor, who lives
south of Newark, near the Blue
Jay school house, owns a St.
Lambert thoroughbred Jersey cow that is a wonder. Though only 10 years old, this cow is the mother of 14 calves, six of these calves, three sets of twins, having been born within the past 25 months. Of the last six calves, five have been born. The last of the three sets of twins arrived Friday
January 10, 1908.

Of Young Lukens is Pathetic Figure in Canton Tragedy

THE PRISONER IS CALM

Chief of Police Smith
Will Make the Affidavit

Mrs. Lukens Will Try to Raise Funds in Cincinnati for Son's Defense.

Canton, O., Jan. 11.—Chief of Police Smith has arranged with City
Prosecutor Day to arraign Albert
Lukens on a charge of murder.
Lukens is now held on suspicion that he killed Elizabeth Brown in the street early Tuesday, beating in her head with a hammer.

Chief Smith will make the affidavit. He said it would charge murder in the first degree. Lukens'
mother met him last night in a room
at police headquarters for the first time since his arrest. She swayed toward him and seemed about to fall. He caught her in his arms.
She was trembling from head to foot. His own eyes were not dry.
The one really pathetic figure of this brutal crime is young Lukens'
mother. She had come to police headquarters to tell them that she was leaving Saturday morning for Cincinnati, where her three sisters live. She hopes to raise money there for attorneys to defend her son. A friend from Mansfield, with whom Mrs. Lukens used to stop when she visited her son at the reformatory,
went with her to the police station.
Chief Smith was present during the interview, which lasted about ten minutes.

Lukens did not tell his mother that he was innocent or guilty. She did not ask. They did not speak of the crime. He wanted to know how long she would be gone. She said she did not know.

All day Friday Lukens was asking for his mother. "I thought I had so much to say to you," he said, as they parted, "but I can think of nothing now."

NEW AMBASSADOR APPOINTED.

nouncement is made of the appointment of Ambassador Takahira, of

A GRANDMOTHER

Falls in Love With Youth of Seventeen—Keeps Him Supplied with Fine Clothes.

Cleveland, Jan. 11.—Mrs. Mary Kauffman has appealed to the police to break up a love affair she said existed between her son Joseph and a woman who lives near by Joseph,
the mother said, is only 17 years of age. The woman, she averred, is a grandmother.

"My son is constantly at her house," Mrs. Kauffman told Prescu-tor Fenninger. "I am a widow and depend on Joseph for support. My boy worked steadily until he met her.
She has money, and keeps my boy
supplied with fine clothes."

Prosecutor Fenninger has notified
the woman to cease her ardent affections toward Joseph under penalty of arrest.

HILL'S RETIREMENT FROM POLITICS

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 11.—David B.
Hill has blasted the hopes of those who reckoned on him to lead the New York Democrats in the coming national campaign. State Chairman Connors is known to have offered him the chairmanship of the state
delegation to the national convention.

"Under no circumstances and at
no one's instigation will I participate actively in politics," he told the United Press today.

"I shall not be a New York delegate-at-large to the convention. I repeat by statement when I previously announced by retirement
from politics."

Politicians say they think now the state's "big four" will be State Chairman Connors, Lieutenant-Governor Chandler, Senator McCarren and
F. Murphy.

OHIO VICTIMS IMPROVING.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 11.—The condition of the persons injured in Tuesday's wreck at Hiram, Ga., was reported improved at the local hospital. Mrs. Emma Hoover, of Columbus, Ohio, about whose recovery
there was some doubt, was resting comfortably, and her recovery is predicted. Rudolph Flick and other Canton people are considered out of danger.

RELEASE OF ABE RUEF IS EXPECTED

EUGENE SCHMITZ.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 11.—
Graft prosecution received a stunning blow when the District Court of Appeals handed down a decision
not only reversing the case of Eugene Schmitz, convicted of the crime of extortion and sentenced to serve five years in San Quentin penitentiary by Judge Dunne, but also ordered the trial court to sustain the demurrer of the defendant on the ground that the indictment did not state a public offense or an unlawful injury, and ordered that the defendant be discharged upon this indictment.

According to the appellate judges,
the compelling of French restaurants
to pay big "fees" to Abraham Ruef
was not a crime, even though Ruef
divided the "fees" with the mayor.
After discussing the point the court reversed the judgment against Schmitz on the ground that no acts constituting a crime had been proved against him.

It is probable that as a result of the decision Schmitz will never again be tried upon any of the extortion indictments and that the other four cases now resting against him
will be discharged.

Of Firemen are In- jured in Burning Skyscraper

THE FIRE GUN IS USED

Greatest Spectacular and Disastrous Conflagration for Years.

Subway Said to be Unsafe on Account of Water Which May Flood It.

New York, Jan. 11.—Fifty firemen were injured and six are known to be either dead or dying in the ruins of the 13 story Parker building at 19th street and Fourth avenue, which was totally destroyed by fire last night.
The blaze was the most spectacular
one which has occurred since the skyscraper owned by Rogers, Peet & Co.
was consumed at the corner of Broadway and Chambers street.

So great was the number of injured men that the Florence hotel,
at 18th street and Fourth avenue,
was turned into a temporary hospital,
while surgeons from Bellevue, St.
Vincent's Roosevelt and Flowers' hospitals dressed their wounds.

Among the known dead are firemen Thomas Phillips, Thomas O'Connor, John Lynch and John Fallon.
A block away the thrilling spectacle could be witnessed, so intense was the light cast by the fire, which reddened the sky for more than a mile.

The streets were choked with apparatus. Engines seemed to be everywhere, and in 15 minutes men and women bound for the theater or headed for hotels for dinner, lined the thoroughfare. The situation became so bad that Commissioner Bugher issued a call for reserves from eight precincts—a move seldom made
at any fire.

The search for the bodies of the three firemen who undoubtedly lost their lives while fighting the flames
is being pushed as rapidly as the red hot ruins of the skyscraper can be handled. Thus far not a sign of any of the men has been found.

Estimates by losers in the fire
make small changes in Fire Commissioner Lantry's and Asst. Fire Chief Bann's original guess at about $6-000,000.

Out of the total the heaviest single loss was the stock of Karaghenian & Co., the Constantinople rug
importers, who confirm the fire department officials' estimate of about $1,000,000.

Colliers' Weekly and Judge Publishing companies have not yet determined how heavy were the losses and most of the other concerns occupied other quarters in the building, a considerable proportion of them large publishing houses—say it may be several days before they will be able to say definitely how heavily they suffered financially.

For the second time within a year
an entire engine company, No. 72—
was put out of commission. Captain David with his men were conducting the fight on the second floor, when
the ceiling of hollow cement blocks,
crashed with it several steel girders,
crashed from the fifth story to the basement. The men on the second floor were caught directly under the mass of falling wreckage and it was here that O'Connor and Phillips undoubtedly lost their lives.

Life lines were also fired for the first time in several years from the small guns provided for them, undoubtedly saving a number of lives.
The line was shot from the roof of the neighboring eight story Hotel Florence. The men looped it about a chimney and slid to safety at the cost of badly burned hands. The firemen say it was only by a miracle that they were able to prevent the fire from spreading to other buildings.

The thousands of people who used the subway to get to their places of employment this morning, will probably never realize but that six inches of concrete stood between them and death by drowning. In the cellar of the Parker building at 19th street and Fourth avenue, are thousands of tons of water poured into it by 25 of the largest fire engines in the world,
pumping for more than five hours.
This water remains today in the cellar and sub-cellar of the ruined skyscraper, whose foundations about the big tube that is the main artery of the city's transportation facilities.

Denver, Col., Jan. 11.—The marriage of a Santa Fe, N. M., of Cora Marie Arnold, a wealthy and highly educated school teacher of this city, to A. The bride was a teacher in the public schools of Denver, is a well educated woman, the daughter of a prominent citizen and an heiress.

The romance is one that runs the gamut of unusual experiences. Rising, mandolin, and Mr. Phil Peters, violin.—Lancaster Eagle.

Discovering that both Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell's birthdays came within the week, a few friends and neighbors gathered to give them a little surprise and help them celebrate the event.

A surprise party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Martin, West Church street, on Friday evening in honor of his eighty-seventh birthday. The guests arrived at 5:30 o'clock, laden with presents, and were entertained until 6:30 when they were served with a delicious supper, after which they were entertained by Mr. Tilton telling stories and brief sketches of his boyhood days.

Mr. Tilton was born in New Jersey along the seashore in Munmouth county. Eighty years ago he, with six other families, in as many wagons, traveled the National Road from New Jersey to Muskingum county. They had to ford all rivers between Newark and New Jersey, as at that early date there were no bridges, when arriving at the Muskingum at Zanesville all six wagons and taken aboard by pulley. They passed through Newark, which then only consisted of a court house and a few buildings. Later they settled in Mary Ann township, near the old Mary Ann furnace.

This all will recall a bit of history, when Mr. Tilton's great grandfather, Jacob Tilton, was taken out by Tories and British subjects and murdered before his family in front of his home on the seashore in New Jersey. Mr. Tilton has divided the past twenty years of his life between Newark and Zanesville, and is well known in both places. Although eighty years of age he is as jolly as ever, and his greatest pleasure is to tell jokes and stories of his younger days when the surrounding country was inhabited by Indians.

JOHNSTOWN CONTEST

Still on In the Probate Court—Poll Books Will Be Admitted as Evidence—Court News of Interest.

The trial of the case of Lewis Seesholtz v. The Village of Johnstown, was resumed to the probate court on the convening of court.

Plaintiff claims that a number of the persons who signed the petition asking that an election be called were not, at the time of the signing, qualified electors of the village.

Plaintiff's counsel made a motion to reconsider the ruling of the court made on the first day of the trial, rejecting from the evidence in the case of the poll book of the November election. The court, after a lengthy argument, sustained the motion, and admitted the poll book in evidence, and also held that the 40 per cent of the qualified electors referred to in the statute, should be limited to the number of votes cast at the election.

An attempt was made by counsel on both sides to agree as to what a number of the electors would testify to, so as to save the expense of calling them to the witness stand, and both sides admitted that there would be no dispute as to the testimony of a number of these voters.

The plaintiff was given a decree.

How to Care For Evening Slippers.

Cloth top slippers should be well whisked each time after wearing, and an occasional cleansing with naphtha or gasoline will keep them clean, says the Washington Star. Evening slippers in pastel shades of kid or in silk or satin may be readily cleaned with an eraser known as art gum that is used by illustrators. Of course, either naphtha or gasoline will clean these soiled slippers. Those made of bronze leather, gilt or gold cloth must be carefully handled to prevent tarnishing and should be painted with a liquid bronze or gold as soon as they begin to look dull. When touched with this brightener it is best to have the slippers fitted over trees; then the cloth or kid will not only keep free from wrinkles, but the correct shape will be retained.

The administration after months of labor has arranged a reciprocity treaty with France. It will be of immense advantage to the "common people" of the United States for it reduces the tariff tax on champagne.

The Republican federal office-holders of Ohio, are up against a hard proposition. If they vote against Taft at the primaries the Roosevelt administration will probably cut their heads off, and if they vote for Taft, Senators Foraker and Dick will refuse to confirm them when they are again renominated.

As Senator Aldrich is the father of the currency bill pending in congress, it will be nothing but prudent to try and discover the nigger in the woodpile, perhaps, carefully hid there by Standard Oil Trust attorneys.

AN EDISON DISCOVERY.
Thomas A. Edison, the electrician, married his wife in Akron. On one of their journeys to Mrs. Edison's home they both took bad colds. Mr. Edison was in bed, all stopped up and thought he had pneumonia, the family thought he had and was reported in newspapers all over the country that Mr. Edison was in Akron sick with pneumonia. The family physician, Dr. Foltz, was called in and gave them both Ajax Cold Cure—no other medicine. It cured them up so quickly that Mr. Edison sent Mrs. Edison's brother down to Dr. Foltz's office to find out what the medicine was. He told the doctor that Mr. Edison said it beat anything he ever saw, and would like to know its composition. Dr. Foltz says he has never had a case of pneumonia develop where he got Ajax Cold Cure in ahead of it, and that if he finds the patient has pneumonia when he gets to the bedside, he always gives Ajax Cold Cure anyhow, that it will cure pneumonia quicker than anything he knows of.

THE FACTIONAL WAR BETWEEN BOSSES GETTING INTENSE

Columbus, O., Jan. 11.—The statement given out Thursday in Washington by Congressman Burton to the effect "that we should avoid all appearance of bossism or one man control" is most significant. This follows immediately upon a statement to the effect that he would not head the Taft forces in Cuyahoga county in the coming Foraker-Taft fight.

It also develops that Mr. Burton will visit Cleveland, however, and while not recognized as the active hand of the Taft organization, he has admitted that he will be perfectly willing to advise as to the naming of the Taft delegates.

Never before in the history of political bossism has a politician ever proposed to control so absolute as that which is now virtually proposed by Walter Brown and many other political bosses, including Mr. Burton, George B. Cox, and Mr. A. Karshner—and others.

The manner in which the call for primaries has been issued is said by the Taft men to be a fair opportunity for every Republican voter to express his stand regarding the Foraker-Taft fight.

When it is recognized that none will be permitted to serve as delegates to the state convention unless allowed to do so by their several political bosses, this claim of "freedom" seems not to tally with Mr. Burton's statement regarding the elimination of all show of bossism.

J. J. Enlow, president of the Reynoldsburg bank, prominent as a Mason and K. of P., met with a very serious accident Friday at his home in Reynoldsburg. While in his barn feeding the horses, he fell from the hay mow, a distance of 20 feet, striking the barn floor, dislocating one wrist bone and breaking the other, also terribly cutting and bruising his face. Dr. Dysart of Reynoldsburg, attended him.

EXCESSIVE DRINKING

Orrine Destroys the Craving for Drink—Sold Under Positive Guarantee.

Excessive or continued use of alcoholic beverages always results in a diseased condition of the nervous system. The drinking man is often heard to say, "I can stop of my own free will and when I wish," but the poor fellow is now devoid of the power to act at the proper time and in the right way—it's too late—the craving has secured a firm hold and because of the diseased nervous system he has not the ability for sustained effort. The result we all know.

Drunkennes is no longer considered a crime, eminent scientists and physicians have agreed that it is a disease, and must be treated as such.

The home treatment that has been used for a number of years, and is highly successful, is Orrine. It is sold under a positive guarantee that if it does not effect a cure your money will be refunded.

Orrine is in two forms. When desiring to give scientific purchase Orrine No. 1, and if the patient will voluntarily take the treatment, Orrine No. 2 should be given. The guarantee is the same in either case. Orrine costs but $1.00 per box. Mailed in plain seal wrapper on receipt of price. ### NEWARK MEN

Interested In Proposition To Rescue Sulphur Springs Over In Delaware County.

Magnetic Springs, Jan. 11.—Dr. Jessie F. Conrad, a well-known physician of this place, has completed arrangements for the organization of a stock company for the purpose of rescuing the well-known sulphur springs and placing them on at least an equal footing with the famous magnetic springs.

Some years ago the big hotel and bath house at sulphur springs were burned to the ground and since that time there has been no facilities for using this water for bathing purposes.

Dr. Conrad agrees, with many expert analyses that this sulphur water is superior for bathing purpose to that at Magnetic Springs.

His plans are to erect a large bath house with every facility for giving the sulphur medicated baths after it is completed.

A number of Newark men are interested in the project and will subscribe stock to the new company, which will be put under way so as to have all the essentials ready to open for next summer's bathing season.

LICKING FARMERS

Meet Friday and Organize a Corn Growers' Association—Township Delegates Chosen.

A number of Licking county farmers met in the township hall Friday and effected an organization to be known as the Licking County Corn Growers' association, pursuant to a call sent out from the state experiment station. It will be auxiliary to the State Corn Growers' association which will be organized at Columbus January 15, and will co-operate with the experiment station in improving the quality of corn grown in Ohio, and will take part in large exhibits.

Mr. Frank B. Headley of Pataskala, was made chairman of the meeting, and C. C. Bone of Burlington, secretary. Mr. Headley, J. F. Keller and Arthur Wyeth were appointed a committee to draft laws to govern the association.

The following gentlemen were chosen from each township as delegates to the meeting in Columbus and also to represent the several townships in the county organization: Union, Thomas Cain; Burlington, C. C. Bone; McKean, W. A. Bell; Eden, T. T. Gault; Mary Ann, J. W. Dudgeon; Madison, Cary W. Montgomery; Granville tp., J. S. Graham; Washington, Chas. Weaver; Newton, W. S. Eagle; Newark tp., J. F. Keller; Licking, Wm. Courson; Monroe, Jacob Blaymer; Burlington, L. M. Shipley; St. Albans, O. A. Brooks; Harrison, Joseph Atkinson; Fallsbury, W. A. Moran; Etina, B. B. Shoff; Jersey, Byron Merrill; Lima, F. B. Headley; Liberty, Arthur Wyeth; Hartford, M. Seigfried; Franklin, S. J. Parr; Hanover, R. W. Lillard; Hopewell, W. H. Weakley.

Corn is our most important cereal crop. This year's crop, while a short one, represents a value of $1,300,000,000 to the farmers of the United States.

Much effort is being made by culturists to improve the quality and increase the profits from King Corn, and it is worth the while of every farmer in Licking county to assist in this movement. It is the intention of the promoters to add other lines of farm crops in the future.

The meeting was adjourned to meet at the call of the president.

ROUMANIANS

Will Endeavor to Establish Orthodox Church in This City, Fund Having Been Started.

An effort is being made to establish an orthodox Rumanian church in Newark, but whether the undertaking will meet with success remains to be seen. Tr. Scorolectiu, an orthodox Rumanian preacher, from Youngstown, was in the city last week in the endeavor to establish a fund for the foundation of such a church here.

The Rumanians are divided as to religious views, a part of their people following Catholicism and the remainder adhering to the Greek Orthodox church. In their own country the two religious sects are at peace, but it seems that in America the two bodies are putting up a strong fight against each other. The official organ of the Rumanian Catholics is a paper called "Roumanul," published at Cleveland, O., while the "Amerika," also published at Cleveland, is the exponent of the anti-Catholic movement. Tr. Scorolectiu is one of the proprietors of the latter.

In addressing a meeting of Rumanians here last week he is quoted as saying that all good Rumanians should be identified with the orthodox class, for by that means they would be assured of employment. He promised to solicit the Wehrle company for a site, and is said to have secured about $50 toward the establishment of the orthodox church here.

OLD BILLS UP IN LEGISLATURE

CLEARING OF CALENDAR DID NOT KILL OFF MANY OF THE MEASURES.

Quibble Over Pay of Solons.—County Option Has Rival—Changes in State Charter.

Columbus, O., Jan. 11.—Old bills that were pending when the legislature convened "pursuant to adjournment" are being reintroduced on account of the house cleaning resolution by Senator Mather sweeping all bills on the calendar and in committee pigeonholes into the waste basket and declaring this to be the second regular session of the Seventy-seventh general assembly.

With the wiping off of the calendar 130 bills were swept from the house calendar, 19 of which had already passed the senate, and 41 bills were dropped from the senate calendar, 20 of which had already passed the house, besides probably 1,000 bills pending in committees. Mr. Mather's resolution provided that "all bills, resolutions and other matters pending in said general assembly at the time of adjournment of said first session shall in nowise be considered as pending before the present session of said general assembly, but all such bills, resolutions and other matters may be introduced in the present session without any regard to any action taken thereon at said first session."

FREEMAN T. EAGLESON, Representative of Guernsey County and New Speaker of House.

Consequently the old bills are coming in like the assembling of old friends and relatives for a family reunion, and before the session gets very far along the unfinished portion of the old bill books will be practically reinstated.

As an evidence of the fallibility of law one or two bills have been introduced already to amend laws that were enacted at the session of this same general assembly two years ago. It is safe to say that if the legislature were to meet every year there would be no diminution in the volume of legislation proposed and disposed.

By comparison, it is found that duplication of bills is getting quite common; that is, the same identical measure will be introduced at about the same time in both the house and senate. This has been done several times this session. It is accounted for by the plausible explanation that a measure thus brought before the two branches simultaneously will receive contemporaneous consideration in both branches and accelerate its progress because of the activity of the rival sponsors to get the measure through. If passed first by one branch it need not be held up so long in the other because of the consideration already given it by the proper committee. But sometimes this rivalry retards rather than helps progress when both branches pass the same bill and insist on original jurisdiction, as done with the two-cent fare act two years ago, until the senate finally yielded to the house, rather than have the bill fall by the wayside.

When the Mather resolution to clear the calendar was being discussed in the house there were some pretty broad hints that the purpose of the move was to enable the members to draw the additional $400 salary this year, under the act passed two years ago, increasing salary of members of the general assembly from $500 to $1,000 per annum. Nor is that likely to be the end of the argument. As there are always two sides to a question, arguments can be made on both sides of this salary question, and will be made if Representative Roberts of Cuyahoga county undertakes to enjoin the state auditor, who has had the vouchers made out on the $1,000 scale, from paying more than $600. The additional $400 each would amount to over $55,000. It will probably be paid because the constitutional provision as to oppose no serious impediment.

Before the resolution to clear the calendar was adopted it was erroneously charged that such a move was meant to head off Senator Rose's county option bill, which the senate committee on temperance was ready to report favorably. Wayne B. Wheeler, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, says cleaning off the bill books, thus killing all pending measures, will not affect the chances of passing a county local option bill. Such a measure, he says, probably will be introduced in both branches at an early date, and that it will take the usual committee course, but an effort will be made to get it before both house and senate long enough before adjournment to force the issue to a final vote.

Senator Rose will reintroduce his bill next week, and unless the senate committee on temperance gets balky the bill should reach the calendar in a few days. As Mr. Dittmars (D.) of Holmes says the Anti-Saloon league had nothing to do with the county option bill he introduced in the house this week, some other member will hand in the house the twin of the Rose bill. Senator Rose did not reintroduce his bill Wednesday afternoon, fearing that it would come up for second reading and reference Monday, when there would be a small attendance of members, with the result that it might be committed to the hands of some unfriendly committee.

Representative Hillenkamp of Toledo, one of the two Independents in the house, has set up a counter proposition to county option by offering again a constitutional amendment he proposed two years ago, to permit voters to pass upon the question of whether the traffic in intoxicating liquors shall be licensed in this state. This movement is being backed by the German-American alliance. The members of both branches are to be appealed to on the score of fairness to permit this amendment to be submitted in order that expression may be had on pursuing a middle course in the matter of liquor regulation. It is said that if the amendment is submitted at least one of the political parties will endorse it on the official ticket. In the event that it becomes a law, something on the order of the Pennsylvania system will be offered. It will include, it is said, the residential local option features as well. Mr. Hillenkamp says he will push this resolution, regardless of any action that may be had on other temperance measures.

The house will be practically at a standstill until the committee assignments are announced by the new speaker, Freeman T. Eagleson of Guernsey. The vacancies have to be filled, and the four new members elected to fill vacancies are to be placed. It is also probable that some new committees may be appointed. Announcement of the committee changes is expected early next week.

Several constitutional amendments are proposed to date. The amendment offered in the house by Mr. Humphry of Hardin for equal suffrage was duplicated in the senate by Senator Howe. The Women's Suffrage association of Ohio is urging the proposition.

Senator Williams offered another to smooth out some more of the tangles in which the state was involved by a Republican legislature precipitately abolishing spring elections four years ago and then trying to rectify its blunder by separation of local from general elections.

The proposed taxation amendments have not yet been presented. It is expected that the initiative and referendum resolution will be offered next week in the senate by Mr. Atwell and in the house by Mr. Thomas. There was some talk of opposition to this proposition, by the liquor interests through fear that it could be invoked on prohibition measures. It is said that some members who oppose county option believe in the initiative and referendum gave the liquor interests to understand that if any such opposition developed against initiative and referendum they would withdraw their opposition to county option. Prospects are favorable for the adoption of the resolution.

Two new state institutions are proposed. Senator Rathbun of Meigs, in a bill, would appropriate $25,000 to establish in Columbus an industrial school for the blind.

Senator Ward of Cuyahoga put in a bill to appropriate $50,000 for a hospital for inebriates and "dope fiends," committed thereto by probate court. The bill proposes a commission of six appointed by the governor and the purchase of a site of 50 acres.

Some pique has cropped out against Columbus because another state institution is to be located here.

Senator Harper of Cincinnati, who introduced the bill passed two years ago to establish a home for deformed and crippled children, gave the Capital City a rap by presenting a joint resolution in the senate, directing the commission to locate two such homes, one at Cleveland and one at Cincinnati. The resolution declares that the commission is about to locate the proposed home in Franklin county, and the senator proceeds to condemn the water supply in Columbus and sanitary conditions generally. It is not likely that the resolution will be given serious consideration or that it will affect the choice of a site.

Another ambitious Republican wants to succeed Wade H. Ellis as attorney general. He is U. G. Denman, for two years city solicitor of Toledo, and one of the lieutenants of Walter Brown, chairman of the Republican state central committee. Members of the legislature and other politicians here are speculating whether this will be an asset or a liability in Denman's canvass for support before the state convention. Being a protégé of Brown he is probably tagged for the Taft slate before the convention.

Population of Towns in Proposed League Reaches Over 200,000—
Director, Meets.

Still not a ray of light has pierced the deep and impenetrable darkness that surrounds the baseball situation of the O. P. league.

While daily the time grows shorter for a solution of the mystery, yet nothing can be figured out that will have a tendency to relieve the situation. A theory of a man well versed in baseball is that while Sharon and league for financial reasons, Akron and Youngstown will stick.

Canton, while reported to be willing to go with the eastern teams in forming a new league, has paid her money for protection in the Central league for this year, and will not leave the Central unless the new league of the easterners is an assured fact. Meanwhile Zanesville is simply under territorial rights of the Central, the same as Lima, Sandusky, Springfield, Richmond, Hamilton and Findlay are under territorial rights of the westerners in the O. P. league. Zanesville's chances for landing in the Central are a long way from being assured, and depend entirely upon Canton's action.

The O. P.'s will hold another meeting about the 20th of this month, and the Central will follow a day or two later and will await the action of this league. Canton is regarded as a traitor by the rest of the Central teams, the same as the eastern teams of this league are regarded as traitors to the other teams. A secret meeting was held in Akron last July, according to reports, and at the meeting were present representatives of all the eastern O. P. teams, the Erie team of the Tri-State, and Canton of the Central.

The proposition of forming a new league was then talked over and the result of the scheming was shown at the Cleveland convention. Much as the eastern clubs want to break away from the western factions, they are going to think for a while before becoming outlaws. Sharon and New Castle probably do not care, for general opinion is that their ball days are over. The fact that Erie would have to make good her losses to the Tri-State before going into another league killed that proposition, and that fond hope of the easterners went glimmering. Canton was the tail ender in the receipt end of the Central, and baseball in that city seems to equal x, the unknown quantity. The team would be a drag to the eastern faction should the rupture occur, and with East Liverpool in the league for much would be saved in the way of mileage. Meanwhile Zanesville is practically out of the running. George Williams, of Canton, will make a fight to secure some consideration for his franchise, and will not quit the league for Zanesville, unless he is given what is due him. Zanesville will have to stand for the price, then though they seem to think it will not cost the town a cent.

The following population is given for the cities in the proposed league in a directory issued in 1906 by the Avers Newspaper Annual company:

Newark	19,324
Mansfield	18,891
Marion	13,024
Lancaster	8,991
Springfield	20,921
Lima	25,445
Sandusky	20,021
Richmond	18,712
Total	144,229

The census given in the directory was taken mainly from the government census of 1900, and as many of the towns have grown rapidly, it would be safe to say that the total population would reach well over 200,000. A city directory of Newark published a short time ago gives the city a population of over 30,000. All of the towns with the exception of Mansfield are good for baseball, and are easily reached by train or trolley.

The directors of the Newark club held an executive session last night, and talked over plans with Manager Berryhill for securing players for the coming season. Other than that nothing of importance was done, and Berryhill left this morning for Columbus for a conference with Bobby Quinn. He is going to Richmond, Ind., and may stop at Springfield for a talk with the men interested in the proposed team there. Berryhill says Richmond is a good baseball town, and even when playing independent ball last season, they pulled from four to five thousand people out to the Sunday games.

Another pitcher has signed up with the Holders, and he is said to be a very promising youngster. He is Ormond Courte, of Indianapolis, and is a southpaw with great control. Courte's contract is now in the hands of President Stasel.

The Lancaster Eagle in speaking of players, says that "Lefty" Snyder and Erve Whittan would be welcomed by the Lenks' management, and that Frank Locke, who will never do any good in Lancaster, would like to come to Newark. When Berryhill comes back to Newark again he has more men signed as he has

MARION'S DREAM

Some newspaper writer at Marion had an awful dream last night, according to a dispatch sent to the Enquirer, and while it is possible that the other teams in the league had representatives present at Marion it is not probable, and not a director or a person interested in the Newark club was present. The following is the telegram:

Marion, O., Jan. 11.—Owners of the Newark, Mansfield, Lancaster and Marion teams of the Ohio-Pennsylvania League held a meeting here and decided to withdraw from the circuit.

A meeting will be held in Columbus Sunday with a view to organizing a new league, at which representatives from Springfield, Hamilton, Lima and Richmond, Ind., the proposed additions to the new league, will be present.

"Dobby" Quinn of Columbus is slated for the Presidency.

ENCAMPMENT GROUND

MAY REVERT TO CITY IF PROPER
LEGISLATION CAN BE ENACTED.

Board of Trade Has Matter in Hand, and May Secure Grounds for a Publishing Concern.

At the solicitation of the Newark Board of Trade, a bill will be introduced in the state legislature next week, asking that the historic property west of the city, known as the state encampment grounds, revert to the ownership of Newark City. This property has been offered as a site for the location of the state hospital for crippled children, but the commissioner having the choosing of a site in hand has not yet made a report.

The introduction of the bill will serve two purposes. First, it will be inclined to push Newark's proposed site to the front and hasten its consideration by the commission. Then, if the state does not see fit to continue its use for state purposes the land should, according to a clause in the original deed, revert to the City of Newark. As suit cannot be brought

The Advocate's Evening Story

THE ABSENT-MINDED STRANGER

The tenth anniversary of my wedding at hand, and after an absence of two months I was going home to enjoy it with my wife. The day before I started I visited several jewelry stores in search of a befitting gift and finally settled on a cross of ten diamonds, for which I paid $300. It was an expensive present, but in the nine previous anniversaries all told I had not given my Ursula the value of a hundred dollars in such offerings. I resolved on this occasion to give her a treat.

I put the cross in my pocket and, taking up my suit case, got into the smoking compartment of a parlor car, where I transferred the gift to the suit case. The train was barely started when a gentleman entered, also with a suit case, which he put down in a corner, and took a seat. Then, apparently thinking it too far from him, he got up and placed it on the seat beside him. I looked at him somewhat wondering if he thought I would steal his property.

"Excuse me, sir," he said, noticing my expression. "I am very absent-minded. Unless I keep my hand on my belongings I am liable to go away without them."

We fell into conversation, and I found him a very pleasant traveling companion. He had a story for every country in the world. His power of description was marvelous. He described the battle of Las Guisnas in the late Cuban-American war so vividly that I seemed to have been there myself. When I asked him in what capacity he was in Cuba, for he made no mention of himself in his description, he took out a card and handed it to me. It bore the name of an officer of the volunteer service whose name I remembered to have seen mentioned for conspicuous bravery after this very battle.

We each had half a day's journey before us, which we spent getting better acquainted. At noon the gentleman opened his suit case, from one side removing a flask, then, after partially lifting the lid of the other side and taking a peep within, he shut the case and turned the key, taking care that the case was locked. We drank together from his flask, after which he put it in his pocket.

"I don't like to open my suit case too often," he said. "I have some valuable property in it, and since a wound in the head I received while in Cuba I am liable to become confused. The truth is I have no business to be traveling with valuables. I would feel easier if you would kindly keep an eye on me when I leave the train to see that I have my case with me."

I answered the war scared veteran that I would gladly do so. Indeed, there is no one that will excite our sympathy so much as a man who suffers for bravery in battle. What a pity that so delightful a man should have had his mental faculties impaired in the service of his country!

Approaching a station just outside the limits of the city to which we were both going, the train stopped. Suddenly my friend jumped up, exclaiming, "Why, this is my station!" and, hurriedly grasping my hand, dashed out of the car. He had no sooner reached the platform than I noticed that he had left his suit case. I was about to seize it to take it to him when it occurred to me that in my haste I might get hold of the wrong case. I had no mind to appropriate his valuables, so I bounded through the door in time to see him walking deliberately away and gave him a sharp "Hi!" He turned and, seeing me, came back.

When I told him that he had left his treasure his face at once changed from serenity to terror. Dashing past me, he rushed back into the car and in a moment reappeared with his hand baggage, and at that very moment the train pulled out. I stood on the platform waving to him, he taking off his hat and shouting his thanks. I returned to my seat, feeling that satisfaction one experiences at having saved a fellow being from a great loss, especially a delightful companion whose mental breakdown has been brought about in the service of his country. I was so filled with pleasant emotions that I did not notice we were near the terminus till we rolled into the station.

When I got home and in my own comfortable bedroom I went to my suit case, a servant having brought it up, to take out some linen. I was astonished to find that my key did not fit the lock. I turned the suit case about, examining it on every side, and soon saw that it was not mine.

Great heavens! The stranger had taken my case instead of his own. What an unfortunate blunder! I was minus my wedding present for the morning, he his valuables.

My wife came in, and I told her what had happened.

"You had better open the case," she said, "and see if there is anything in it to enable you to find the owner's whereabouts."

With a screwdriver and a hammer I forced the case open. It contained a night-shirt and some worn underclothing on one side, while in the other there was nothing but old newspapers.

I remember no disappointment in my life equal to being deprived of the present I had bought for my wife. I confessed that I had been robbed of it by a sharper, and she roared up bravely, but several times during the evening I caught her in tears.

The next morning as we were sitting down to breakfast there was a rapping at the doorbell, and there stood a policeman with my suit case.

against the state, as would be possible in the case of individual land owners, the only means of regaining the property would be on recommendation of the legislature.

In case the city secures the beautiful and historic grounds, the board of trade will take immediate steps to make use of it in some practical way, also preserving the mystic legends of the grounds.

At the national conference of the Methodist church, held four years ago, it was decided to appoint a commissioner to investigate the possibilities of uniting all of the Methodist publishing houses, making one big concern. This suggestion, it was suggested, should be in some good central location with proper surroundings and mailing and shipping facilities. Now, the commission will hold its meeting in Baltimore, and the matter will be acted upon. Rev. L. C. Sparks and Mr. Wesley Montgomery of this city, are delegates to the meeting and the officers of the board of trade will endeavor to secure the enterprise for location here, recommending the site of the state encampment grounds.

Just why the state commission on the hospital location has not reached a decision is a matter of conjecture. Representative Harper of Cincinnati, recently recommended the establishment of two such hospitals, one to be located in the Queen City and the other in Cleveland. He introduced a bill to this effect but the legislature has not yet had time to act upon it. Thursday was the day set for the commission to report on the site favored for the hospital, but as this other matter is now in the hands of the state body, it is believed that the commission deemed it advisable to await action on the Harper bill before making any suggestions.

MR. HEINZE AND COUNSEL BEFORE COMMISSIONER SHIELDS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—F. Augustus Heinze, the copper magnate, arrested by United States Marshal Henkel upon a bench warrant issued by the Criminal court as a result of an indictment charging him with having illegally certified a check for $62,768, drawn upon the Mercantile National bank of this city.

Mr. Heinze was represented before United States Commissioner Shields by Edward Lautenbach. A plea of not guilty was entered. Bail in the sum of $50,000 was demanded by a representative of the United States district attorney's office. Mr. Lautenbach said he was ready to furnish bail at once and a bond was at once drawn up.

EARLIER NEWARK

(By Col. Charles H. Kibler)

From April, 1858, to April, 1863, I provided by law for cities of the second class.

Gibson Atherton was at that election chosen as Mayor of the city, and was therefore the first Mayor. It may be noted, that after 48 years, another at the name is Mayor.

Before 1860, the salary of the Mayor was $100.00 per year. To this was added certain fees in misdemeanor cases amounting to $30 to $50 per year. At that rate, if the population of the city is 30,000, the salary of the Mayor would be $600.00.

During my time as Mayor, it was commonly said in adjoining county seats, that Newark was a particularly wicked town. This was not at all true. As a test of the truth of this report (the best that occurred to me) I adopted this method. I took the misdemeanor cases that came before the Mayor during one week, which was a fair sample. Inquiry was made of the accused as to their places of residence. The result was that at least three-fourths of them hailed from the adjoining towns.

Up to 1860 the regular force was one man, called the Marshal. Dillon Brooke was that officer. He was rather a terror to evil-doers, and kept the village in reasonably good order.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The High school resumed work on Monday after a highly enjoyed vacation of two weeks and from all indications many of the members have either adopted new resolutions or re-adopted old ones, to work harder than ever before. Wonder if the approaching semester "exams" have anything to do with it?

New students from other schools have been welcomed to our ranks this week. Bessie Hagmeier from Avalon, Pa., has entered the Sophomore class, at Sam Walton from Woodfield, has enrolled with the juniors.

The total enrollment for the year is 518, of which 42.4 per cent are boys. This is an unusually large per cent of boys.

The library committee, appointed by the principal, has been working faithfully to select for our library a collection of books which will be attractive and make us better men and women for their reading. They now have under consideration over 300 titles. The merits of these books are being carefully considered, individually. The committee is composed of Misses Worthing, Moore, Wallace and Prof. Tait. The work of this committee is to select standard fictional works to be purchased from the proceeds of our recent Christmas Fair, which now amounts to $175.95.

The athletes must not be overlooked for the basketball team is certainly making a mark. The boys have been practicing hard and faithfully, and have done good work. They are well worthy to represent the High school and have planned for a good game tonight. This game is with the local team and the team of O. M. T. This is a very hard game and the O. M. T. boys are considered very fast players.

To our boys should be encouraged. They play much better when there are numbers of friends in the audience, urging them to win. They must have and if not on the floor helping them, on the sidelines and rooting.

A nice attendance is desired as this is going to be a hard earned victory and we want it. The line up will be as follows: F. Lewis, T. Lewis, S. P. R. Perry, S. Jackson, S. Jackson, S. Miller, P. Sachs, H. Lewis, C. McMillan.

Admission is only 25 cents, and everybody come and root.

FORMER LICKING COUNTY PIONEER

Who Has Many Relatives in This Vicinity Dead in Iowa at the Age of Ninety-one.

The Republican of Wapello, Iowa, contains the following account of the death of Harvey Harris, a former pioneer resident of Licking county, who has been living in Iowa for many years:

"Uncle Harvey Harris" one of the oldest citizens of this county, died at his home, between Wapello and Morning Sun, Monday morning, December 16, 1907, in his ninety-first year. He was born in Licking county, Ohio, September 21, 1817, when James Monroe was president of the United States, and when all this great region known as the Mississippi Valley was almost a pathless wilderness. He had reached the ripe old age of 90 years, 2 months and 24 days. He came to Iowa in April, 1852, locating on the farm which has ever since been his home. He was married Nov. 1, 1838, to Miss Eliza Ann Orr. To them eight children were born, six of whom are living—Joseph, Thomas, Newton, George, and two daughters, Mrs. Harriet Hamilton and Miss Rachel, who has remained at home to care for her father, since the death of her mother, January 31, 1895. Eugene was drowned when quite a small child about fifty years ago. Isaac died in 1881. All the surviving children live in the vicinity of Morning Sun and were present at the funeral. There are twenty-four grandchildren all present but two and 12 great children, six of whom were present.

Mr. Harris was a man remarkable for his energy and industry. Until within the past year or so he enjoyed unusually good health. An attack of pneumonia last June left him weak and he never regained his strength. About two months ago he suffered a stroke of paralysis, followed by another four days before his death, from which he never rallied. He was a conscientious, however, until the last.

The funeral was held at old Concord chapel, near his home, Wednesday, Dec. 18, 1907, at 11 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Mr. McKay of Morning Sun. His grandsons—Isaac, Eugene, Lee, Fred and George Harris, all residing nearby, and Ed Joy of Stephens, Wis., were the pallbearers. Interment at Concord cemetery.

FORMER LICKING COUNTY PIONEER

Who Has Many Relatives in This Vicinity Dead in Iowa at the Age of Ninety-one.

The Republican of Wapello, Iowa, contains the following account of the death of Harvey Harris, a former pioneer resident of Licking county, who has been living in Iowa for many years:

"Uncle Harvey Harris" one of the oldest citizens of this county, died at his home, between Wapello and Morning Sun, Monday morning, December 16, 1907, in his ninety-first year. He was born in Licking county, Ohio, September 21, 1817, when James Monroe was president of the United States, and when all this great region known as the Mississippi Valley was almost a pathless wilderness. He had reached the ripe old age of 90 years, 2 months and 24 days. He came to Iowa in April, 1852, locating on the farm which has ever since been his home. He was married Nov. 1, 1838, to Miss Eliza Ann Orr. To them eight children were born, six of whom are living—Joseph, Thomas, Newton, George, and two daughters, Mrs. Harriet Hamilton and Miss Rachel, who has remained at home to care for her father, since the death of her mother, January 31, 1895. Eugene was drowned when quite a small child about fifty years ago. Isaac died in 1881. All the surviving children live in the vicinity of Morning Sun and were present at the funeral. There are twenty-four grandchildren all present but two and 12 great children, six of whom were present.

Mr. Harris was a man remarkable for his energy and industry. Until within the past year or so he enjoyed unusually good health. An attack of pneumonia last June left him weak and he never regained his strength. About two months ago he suffered a stroke of paralysis, followed by another four days before his death, from which he never rallied. He was a conscientious, however, until the last.

The funeral was held at old Concord chapel, near his home, Wednesday, Dec. 18, 1907, at 11 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Mr. McKay of Morning Sun. His grandsons—Isaac, Eugene, Lee, Fred and George Harris, all residing nearby, and Ed Joy of Stephens, Wis., were the pallbearers. Interment at Concord cemetery.

HI AND SI SURPRISE THE OLD MAN INSTEAD

THE up-to-date wardrobe is not complete without a long loose coat such as the new evening one here sketched (5990). Although elaborate in appearance, it is really very simple in construction. The sleeves, cut in one piece with the front and back, are kimono style. Braid ornaments may effect the front closing, or some contrasting material or rich trimming may be used as a facing, and the fronts rolled back to form revers. Biscuit colored broadcloth, trimmed with soutache braid or heavy lace, would make up handsomely. More serviceable development may be had in cravenette, covert cloth, tweed and serge. The medium size will require 3½ yards of 54 inch material.

Ladies' Evening Coat, No. 5990. Sizes for small, medium and large.

making. The blouse waist is completed by a guimpe of tucked mousseline, and an inner vest of heavy lace lends especial charm to the mode. The skirt is an excellent one to form part of a costume, or as a separate skirt to wear with odd waists. It is cut in four gores and is laid in an inverted box-pleat at each seam. Cord ornaments form the trimming. A handsome development would be in amethyst chiffon broadcloth, radia silk, taffeta, crepe de chine, voile and poplin would all be suitable. For 36 inches bust measure, 2½ yards of 44 inch material will be required for the waist, and 4½ yards for the skirt.

Ladies' Waist with guimpe, No. 5984. Sizes for 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure.

Ladies' Skirt, No. 5961. Sizes for 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32 inches waist measure.

This modish gown of pale gray broadcloth (5988-5986) has the panel effect in front, rendering it exceedingly becoming. Deep tucks over the shoulders give the wide effect and produce a graceful fullness that gives roundness to the figure. The skirt is given the fashionable close fit about the waist by the deep pleats being stitched to yoke depth and allowed to fall below that point in well pressed folds, thus giving the necessary flare at the lower edge. The design is suitable for broadcloth, panama, voile, mohair and English suiting. For 36 inches bust measure 2½ yards of 44 inch material will be required for the waist and 6½ yards for the skirt.

Ladies' Waist, No. 5984. Sizes for 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure.

Ladies' Pleated Skirt, No. 5986. Sizes for 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32 inches waist measure.

The modish over-blowse effects bid fair to hold their popularity indefinitely. This one of wood-brown chiffon taffeta (5796-5892) is worn over a guimpe of deep cream colored lace with charming effect. The blouse will prove exceptionally attractive for the soft, supple materials that drape nicely. The skirt is made with stitched pleats all around, and fits the figure closely at the hips, while the lower edge has the fashionable flare. A yoke cut in scalloped outline is a pretty feature. The design is admirable for foulard, crepe de chine, broadcloth and pongee. For 36 inch bust measure 2½ yards of material and 27 inches wide will be required for the waist and 10½ yards for the skirt.

Ladies' Over-Blouse with Guimpe, No. 5796. Sizes for 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure.

Ladies' Pleated Skirt with or without yoke, No. 5982. Sizes for 20, 22, 24, 26, 28 and 30 inches waist measure.

A smart design in gray and black checked suiting is 5696-5632. Five gores were used in the construction of the skirt. A perfectly smooth adjustment is given about the hips from which there is a gradual widening to the lower edge, which is quite full. The coat admits of being made in either long or short hip length. It is fitted by seams that extend to the shoulders in both back and front, giving long graceful lines to the figure. The mode is appropriate for broadcloth, serge, cheviot and mohair. For 36 inches bust measure 2½ yards of 44-inch material will be required for the coat and 6½ yards for the skirt.

Ladies' Coat, No. 5696. Sizes for 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure.

Ladies' Plain Five-Gored Skirt, in long medium sweep, round and short round length, No. 5632. Sizes for 22, 24, 26, 28, 30. Each number calls for a separate pattern, at 10 cents each, and 32 inches waist measure.

COST OF A BOW

THE recent court held by King Edward and Queen Alexandra lends interest to the inquiry as to what it costs for a debutante to make her curtsy to the King and Queen. A certain amount of exaggeration has attached itself to the expenditure which is cited as necessary for a court outfit. The all-important dress may cost thousands of dollars, and tens of thousands of dollars; but, on the other hand, a very dainty little debutante at the last court only spent $25 on her frock. It was made by a good dressmaker and the train was lent by a friend.

A calculation has been made to decide the maximum and minimum cost of a presentation at court. There is, of course, practically no limit to the expenditure which might be involved. A gown may be sewn with real jewels. A petticoat may be fashioned of priceless lace. A feather fan may be adorned with sticks of gold. All that can be done is to take a fair average of the sum total which would be considered necessary by a society debutante.

The minimum cost is a more difficult matter. The most rigid economy must be practised, and the greatest difficulty which will present itself will be to invest a comparatively small sum on the outfit and yet to compare favorably with the woman who has spent three times the amount. The fact that it is now possible to hire a court train has proved a veritable boon to many debutantes. The price varies from $12 to $30, but a very dainty train of chiffon, lace and touches of silver embroidery can be procured for the evening at a charge of $15. Bouquets are not so fashionable now as when feather fans, but not everybody can afford one of these fragile luxuries, and in that case flowers must suffice.

A firm of court florists will make up a bouquet of white poppies and marguerites for an extremely small sum. A visit to the photographer's might even be omitted, but it would be a pity to economize in this respect. Every woman is anxious to hand down to posterity a picture of herself gowned for the great event.

UNASKED ADVICE

IF your object and ambition is to keep the course of your friendship smooth and straight, do not ever succumb to the sometimes sorely tempting, but always annoying, propensity for giving unasked advice. However well you may know a man or a woman, and however dearly you may love and long to aid the friend who, in your eyes, seems to be following the very injurious and mistaken line of action, do not venture your remonstrances and suggestions until you are very positive that they will be received in the spirit in which both are offered.

How often, oh, how often have I seen the best of friends forced apart by the untimely interference of one in the very private affairs of another, and I myself have claimed and lost the good-will of one who would insist on advising me in the management of my servants, who would persist in hold-

A TACTLESS TEASE

IF you tease ever so lightly, and gaily you only rouse your sister's ire or hurt your brother's feelings, and such injury to their pride and their temper casts a shadow on not only their love for you, but on their liking for your companionship.

At long intervals to poke a little harmless fun at Mary's weakness for bright colors, or Bob's appetite for chocolates, or the mother's proneness to suspect unjustly the butcher of sharp practice, is a harmless indulgence enough, so long as you do not push the point too far, and so long as Mary and Bob or the mother accept your fun-making with smiles and perfectly good-natured retorts.

But as soon as ever you see that Mary looks fretted by the reference to her small vanities, gracefully resign any idea of carrying your jesting further and don't. In the presence of guests, show delight in mentioning the sweet tooth of Robert, when you perfectly well know that that young gentleman is rather ashamed of his fondness for sugar plums. It is nothing less than poor sport to nag a relative in a semi-humorous tone about his faults and his foibles, and to embarrass a member of your household before callers.

And tactless, even to the point of impertinence and vulgarity, is that habit of testing a pretty sister about her beaux, or a brother concerning the young ladies whose charms deeply impress his susceptible heart.

If Mr. Jones rings the front door bell three nights in the week, don't take advantage of the opportunity to increase the conscious blushes on your pretty sister's cheeks by threemeter frequent reference to Mr. Jones, by open speculation as to his matrimonial aspirations, and by burlesque imitations of Mr. Jones's possible peculiarities.

You cannot afford to do these things because they make Mr. Jones look ridiculous in your sister's eyes, because they make your sister self-conscious, and because they arouse in her breast a great deal of justifiable resentment. Sometimes a tactless tease will succeed in spoiling a friendship, or in annoying his victim even to the point of tears, and that is the kind of a victory in which, as a seeker after home popularity, you can promptly see defeat for all your hopes.

On the whole, it is better to poke no fun at all when the object of your amusement is a bit thin-skinned, and remember that when it is a case of a little love affair going forward in the family parlor you do a great deal of injury to yourself by trying to make game of the young lady's admirer.

MAKING THE BABY BEAUTIFUL

TELL me how your child breathes, and I will tell you whether it can ever become beautiful.

This is a paraphrase on a popular saw which should strike close to every maternal heart.

If your child does not breathe properly, it is bound to grow up with a decided shortage in that valuable asset, beauty. Correct breathing insures a well-developed, high chest, a good complexion and generally speaking, a good facial expression. The baby that breathes through its mouth gradually lies with the mouth open and has the vacant expression peculiar to children who are mentally defective. The idiot never closes its mouth. Correct breathing purifies the blood with oxygen and is the surest preventive of catarrh.

The city of New York maintains in its public schools a complete system of physical examination by a corps of doctors and nurses. The examinations of children during the present year, beginning September, 1907, shows that 20,248 New York children suffer from defective breathing and particularly with adenoids, or growths in the nasal passages which prevent breathing through the nose. Over twenty thousand boys and girls in New York alone sit and play and sleep with their mouths half open. Over twenty thousand children cannot possibly be beautiful because their mothers did not teach them how to breathe.

If your baby is properly cared for from the very first and has no growths at birth, it will breathe correctly. If from the very beginning you find that it lies with the mouth open, be sure the matter should be investigated by a competent physician. If he finds that adenoids are present, he will have them removed some time between the ninth and the twelfth month of baby's first year. This operation is very simple, the child recovers very rapidly, is generally quite natural by the third day, but it must be done only by a competent surgeon and under sanitary conditions.

The baby who "always has a cold" is generally the baby raised without fresh air. From the day of birth, surround your baby with the right sort of air to breathe. Unless it is a fit subject for an incubator, never cover its head with heavy blankets or quilts. Have the room warmed, but have also a free circulation of sweet, pure air.

I know a trained nurse whose specialty is normal, healthy, uncolicky babies, and she says she fights for pure air in every household where she works. If the young mother has spent dollars on a lace-trimmed baby basket and forgotten to buy a plain screen, the nurse demands the latter. Her slogan is, Do without lace on the basket and buy a white enameled, cretonne or calico hung screen to set around baby's crib. Then, while baby is thus screened from all draughts, have a current of pure air through the room, night and day. Do not imagine that the baby must sleep in a close atmosphere of 70 degrees or more.

In clear, sunny weather, winter or summer, this nurse has her babies take their daytime naps outdoors. If she is nursing in the suburbs, she tucks baby, wrapped in warm cloak and blankets and a snug hood and mittens, right into his cab, pulls the hood down to cut off draughts, and sets the whole out in a patch of sunshine. Every little while she runs out for a peek, to make sure that baby has not thrust his little hands out into the cold. If she is nursing in the city, she sometimes takes the carriage with its precious burden on the roof, and sometimes wheels it out to a nearby park. And as her services are always in demand among high class physicians, she must work wonders with weak babies and over-indulgent or over-anxious young mothers.

If the baby has the "sniffles," grease the bridge of the wee nose with sweet or olive oil or vaseline. This will prevent the hardening of the mucous within, decrease soreness and keep up the flow of mucus. For a child old enough to sniff any fluid up the nose, simple salt water, tepid but neither hot nor cold, will check incipient catarrh. But bear in mind that if your child sleeps and plays with the mouth open, something is wrong. See your doctor. It may be the adenoids, or fungus growth in the nasal passage, or it may be foul air. It is in your power to remedy either defect.

A PRETTY BOW HERE AND THERE

THE addition of a perky little bow in just the right place is often that mysterious something that goes to make an entire costume look fetching. Decidedly for neckwear, the bow is the thing of the moment. The fashionable girl has fifty in her bureau drawer, the girl of modest purse needs at least a dozen. The reappearance of the stiff linen collar has brought about the demand for these bows, but there is no particular style in the bows. Bows are made of ribbon, net, lace, bias taffeta or satin, linen, lawn, and innumerable fancy fabrics.

Point d'esprit makes by far the most serviceable net bow, and can be side or accorcion pleated or gathered very full, tied lightly in the middle, so as not to give a round or chow-like appearance. The piece bag should suggest innumerable combinations, such as bits of white lace, which might be finished with tiny ruffles of black edging and vice versa. Bits of plaid silk left from last year's blouse, or any piece of bright silk, can be manufactured into a Frenchy little twist or bow in a moment's handling.

Almost without exception these bows are sewed on to a tiny piece of celluloid which comes for that purpose, and on the back of which is a patent fastener which fits right on over the collar button. All department stores carry these celluloid attachments, and they cost about five cents each or less.

The half grown girl has as yet found no more becoming style of wearing her hair than tying it at the nape of her neck with a large bow, and sometimes, when it is becoming, in the back of the head, or in the hair.

These bows should be of matching color with her gown. Do not wear green bows with a pink gown. If you have no ribbon like the coloring of the gown you are wearing, then select black as your only other choice. Contrasts are to be avoided. With your dark blue dress wear dark blue ribbons, not red ones, as was occasionally seen a year or two past.

The wearing of the empire dress by so many women has called forth many bows on the back of gowns. A few years ago if you saw a woman with a big bow on her back reaching up almost between her shoulders, you would have gasped in wonderment. Not so in these days. The gown that is made empire or even slightly short-waisted in the back must be finished with a soft girle and a large flat bow with ends falling quite to the hem of the garment. I might say here the short, stout girl should not wear such a finish to her dress. Indeed, empire dresses are not becoming to short women, as they need the length that long-waisted gowns give to them.

Many young girls are wearing large flat rimmed hats of silk, black velvet or soft French felt. For these hats they have two, and sometimes three, sets of ribbon bows. One set of black satin is for everyday wear, one of some brightly colored plaid for occasional use, and still another, in Copenhagen blue, old rose, or some fashionable color, is for evening. This lends great variety to the hat, and if you are clever about making the bow, you can pick up five yards of ribbon on the bargain counter for little money.

A very pretty way of fastening up a princess dress that closes in the back is first, of course, to use the hooks and eyes which are necessary, then all the way up the back, sew tiny little bows about three inches apart. Lingerie dresses, which are so much worn in the house this winter by the younger set, are very pretty when finished in this way. Worn over a blue slip and with a dozen little blue bows up the back, it is a great relief from the large flowing bow or the girle.

All pretty lace petticoats are now finished with a row of heading at the top of the ruffle. Through this is run soft satin ribbon, and at one side a large loose bow is tied with long loops and ends, falling to the bottom of the skirt. It takes nearly a piece of ribbon for each skirt. The bow falling at one side gives just a pretty glimpse of color when the dress is raised.

If the hair is not curly, do not try to force this effect by the use of curl-papers or rags. Let the hair grow naturally until its growth is established. And above all things, do not try to alter the coloring of your baby's hair. A mother wrote to me that she and her husband were disappointed because their little girl had dark hair. Would I tell her how to bleach it? While the baby was still young? Decidedly I would not. Once it is bleached the process must be repeated at intervals, and peroxide undoubtedly cracks and ruins the hair.

If baby's eyebrows are thin and colorless, encourage their growth by rubbing them daily with white vaseline and resorcin. Mix these in the proportion of one ounce of petroleum jelly or vaseline and eight grains of the resorcin. Be sure to brush the eyebrows carefully every day with a brush which comes for this purpose, to give them a good arch and regular outlines.

If the eyelashes are thin and colorless at birth, have your physician,

BABY'S HAIR

If scales or dandruff appear on the scalp while baby is yet very young, do not use the fine-tooth comb. Nothing is more irritating. Very gently rub the scalp with warm fingers dipped in olive oil or white vaseline, and a few hours later see if the scales or dandruff will not come off when the head is washed with a soft rag or sponge. If not, you must try a little stronger treatment.

Even in the wee baby, dandruff or scales indicate the presence of a germ, and the best germicide for a tender head, one guaranteed not to burn, is resorcin. Mix eight grains of resorcin with one ounce of rosewater, and apply to the head with a sponge. This is both a germicide and an emollient. Apply this every day, but do not irritate the scalp by using comb or rough brush. In time, the resorcin will kill the germ and the scales or dandruff will disappear in the daily wash.

Watch the little head very closely, and the instant any of these germ indications appear, take the spot, however small, under treatment. No child can have a glossy, thick growth of hair when these tiny germs are eating at the roots.

Neither should you neglect the boy's head, thinking that it does not matter, as he will never want to wear long hair. It is often not a question of long or short hair, but of no hair at all. Many a man who becomes bald before he reaches his thirtieth birthday should thank his mother for his misfortune.

As soon as the hair becomes long enough to braid in tiny pigtails, it is time to clip it regularly, say clipping the ends about an eighth of an inch once a month. Do not singe it. This is not necessary unless the ends split, which they seldom do in childhood. The growth of the hair will be encouraged if it is kept short until the child is five years old. Then and at all times, from birth, be very careful to brush the hair up from the back of the neck and over the ears. Many a girl has an ugly neck or a suggestion of side-whiskers over her ears because her mother did not keep her hair properly brushed in babyhood.

If the hair is not curly, do not try to force this effect by the use of curl-papers or rags. Let the hair grow naturally until its growth is established. And above all things, do not try to alter the coloring of your baby's hair. A mother wrote to me that she and her husband were disappointed because their little girl had dark hair. Would I tell her how to bleach it? While the baby was still young? Decidedly I would not. ## CHAFING DISH RECIPES

THE chafing dish has long played a pleasing role in the gentle art of entertaining. The supper after the play or after a game of cards is hardly considered complete without it. But of late it has made for itself a new position in the sterner everyday life of the family without a servant or housed in a small apartment either in city or small town.

It is used for warming all sorts of canned goods, but it shows to best advantage when employed in the concoction of some specially prepared mixture.

For instance, try creamed chicken with green peppers. In the morning, while doing up your work, simmer the chicken until tender, and pour off the broth for soup stock. If your family is small, set aside half the meat for chicken salad and half for creamed chicken. Cut up the latter portion moderately fine, but do not mince. Place this in a pretty bowl. Take one large or two very small green peppers, cut off the tops, remove all trace of seeds and stem through the center, wash and drop the shells into boiling water and simmer gently for twenty minutes. Remove and cut up in tiny squares or dice. Now, when dinner-time comes, with the chafing dish before you, and on one side the bowl of chicken and on the other the diced peppers, mix the savory main dish for the meal. Melt two tablespoons of butter in your chafing dish and rub smoothly into this two tablespoons of flour. Add slowly a pint of milk, or a pint of milk and chicken broth mixed.
